Setting Up Lightburn on Your Own Computer

When building projects in Lightburn on your own computer, you do not need to have the profiles installed for the Rabbit laser cutters (the profiles are installed on the workstations connected to the laser cutters - importing your project into Lightburn there should ensure that they will be properly sent to the laser cutters).

It is useful to set the bed size in your copy of Lightburn to 900mm x 1200 mm to make sure that you don't create a project too big for the laser cutter.
